

Everyone feels stressed (焦虑的) sometimes. Maybe you have a family situation that needs some time and attention. Maybe you have a hard time with your friends or classmates. Maybe you are ill or don't do well in your studies. ____1____ I believe that if you add stress management (管理) to your daily life, you can more easily solve your stressful situations. Follow these suggestions to bring peace and happiness into your life.

One way to work off stress and worries is to get moving. You can do sports or just take a walk. ____2____

Smiling and laughing can make you relaxed. Telling a good joke to a friend, watching a good movie with your family or just smiling at the sunshine works well.

Music is the best way to reduce stress and it is popular with people of all ages. Pick the music you like. It's usually more effective when you choose something quiet.

____3____ Any book that makes you know more about the world or the people in it can help you feel better.

Go out and breathe the fresh air. Can you hear the birds singing and feel the light wind on your skin?

____4____ Your stress will be brought away by nature.

Next time you face stress, don't worry. ____5____ Remember: a good mood (心情) brings you a healthy body.

- A. Bring your peaceful scenery to mind the next time you meet something annoying.
- B. One of the advantages (优势) of exercising is that you will all feel happier after that.
- C. Just think about the suggestions, give yourself time to be alone or with the people you love.
- D. So what can you do if you want to keep healthy?
- E. Reading is also a good way to fight against stress.
- F. So what can you do when you feel angry, worried and stressed about the things that are out of your control?

Last month we asked our students about their free time activities. Our questions were about exercise, use of the Internet and watching TV. 1

We found that only fifteen percent of our students exercise every day. 2 Twenty percent exercise only one to three times a week. And twenty percent do not exercise at all.

We all know that many students often go online, but we were surprised that ninety percent of them use the Internet every day. The other ten percent use it at least three or four times a week. Most students use it for fun and not for homework.

3 Only two percent of the students watch TV one to three times a week. Thirteen percent watch TV four to six times a week. And eighty-five percent watch TV every day! Although many students like to watch sports, game shows are the most popular.

It is good to relax by using the Internet or watching game shows, but we think the best way to relax is through exercise. 4 Exercise such as playing sports is fun, and you can spend time with your friends and family as you play together. And remember, “Old habits die hard.” 5

- A. So start exercising before it's too late!
- B. Many students like playing online games.
- C. Forty-five percent exercise four to six times a week.
- D. It is healthy for the mind and the body.
- E. Here are the results.
- F. The answers to our questions about watching television were also interesting.

Courage is often thought to be one of the important spirits everyone needs. Then what is courage? _____1_____ One isn't necessarily born with courage, but one is born with potential (潜力). Kids build courage as they are growing up.

Many people talk about connections between courage and fear. _____2_____ If there is no fear, there is no need for courage. That is to say, courage is the ability to do what makes you feel afraid. Courage doesn't only mean great actions such as saving one's life or taking a big risk. _____3_____ For example, we show courage when we raise our hand to answer a hard question during class or try a new sport.

Courage is in everyday choices we make. Can you be kind to the new kid in class? _____4_____ Or can you stand up for someone in need? Often, these things don't come with praise, but they need courage.

_____5_____ When we become brave enough to face failure, we'll be more willing to try new things and try again after we fail. Courage doesn't always shout. Sometimes courage is the little voice at the end of the day that says, "I'll try again tomorrow."

- A. You should learn to speak in public.
- B. It is the ability to do something difficult.
- C. Can you listen to the new person in your group?
- D. Learning to fail is another important part of courage.
- E. Courage always stands side by side with fear.
- F. Courage also means the smaller actions of our everyday lives.

The undersea world is very beautiful. Now more and more people want to dive (潜水) in the water to find the secret there. Scuba diving is a new sport today. ____1____

Today's smart phones can do almost anything, but we should use them wisely. We should keep away from some bad habits when we use them.

Imagine you're rushing through a crowded subway station, late for a meeting. Suddenly someone is walking very slowly in front of you, playing with his/her smart phone. You will probably feel angry, but have you ever done the same thing? ____ 1 ____

When you see someone looking different, you may want to take a picture or a video. ____ 2 ____ If you want a picture, ask them first. Your friends may not mind your taking pictures of them. But if you want to post them online, make sure you ask before posting anything embarrassing (尴尬的). ____ 3 ____

As we all know, smart phones are great tools for communicating with friends over long distances. However, nowadays it's common to see people sitting together, not speaking but just looking at their smart phones. ____ 4 ____ It may not be a good thing that you always have something to do on your smart phone. ____ 5 ____ So don't spend every spare moment with your phone, and you may get many wonderful ideas.

- A. Real friendships need face-to-face communication.
- B. If yes, even just for your own safety, put the phone away while walking.
- C. Some say that free time is necessary for creative thinking.
- D. Showing their mistakes to the world is sure to hurt your friendship.
- E. But recording people's daily lives can be rude and hurtful.
- F. Everybody using smart phones should be careful.

American schools are quite different from those in China. In America, at the beginning of the term, students must choose their courses and teachers first. ____1____

____2____ So at the first term, don't select too many courses, or you'll feel very nervous and it may be bad for your study. Then you have to ask for some teaching plans. You should try to know something about subjects, time planning, marks and textbooks. At the same time, you must choose the teachers. ____3____ Knowing about them, you can choose the ones that suit you.

There is another thing after you select the course and the teacher. How to buy textbooks makes each student feel hard. ____4____ In order to save money, many students buy some used textbooks, and some students usually borrow textbooks from the school library.

In class, discussing is very important. Teachers encourage students to ask questions or show their ideas. They don't usually ask you to sit still. ____5____ They don't give you much homework to do, so in American schools you may practise and think independently by yourself.

- A. The teaching methods between teachers are different.
- B. Instead, teachers allow you to sit or stand in any place.
- C. Different students hold different opinions about it.
- D. Selecting is very important for students in America.

- F. The textbooks may cost you a lot of money in America.

Have you heard of the “happy switch”? If people have illnesses like depression (沮丧), doctors can put a “happy switch” in their heads. ____ 1 ____

A hospital has tested the switch on 26 patients since 2020. Up to now, it has helped cut down a patient’s sad feelings by 60 percent, the hospital said.

In fact, the “happy switch” is a kind of Brain-Computer Interface (BCI, 脑机接). It works like a bridge. ____ 2 ____ Some BCIs can affect people’s brain activities. Some can let people control the computer with their thoughts. Because of the good use of BCI, in the future, they will help people in more ways.

Play games.

BCI can help people play computer games without using their hands. They can think of the word “jump”. ____ 3 ____

Make life easier.

Imagine your brain is connected to the “computer” of your home. Wouldn’t it be great to turn off lights before going to bed just by thinking about it?

____ 4 ____

When two people are connected to a computer at the same time, they can chat without saying a word or typing.

Create art.

____ 5 ____ Don’t worry. BCI can help you turn thoughts into art.

- A. It connects your brain to a computer.
- B. Talk through thinking.
- C. It soon helps them cheer up.
- D. Many people can’t draw very well or make music.
- E. Soon their character jumps in the game.
- F. Move your mouse.

Do you like the number 13? 1 In the past, a lot of tall buildings didn't have the 13th floor. 2 For example, the number "4" is said to be unlucky because it sounds like the Chinese word for "death". But that's just one example about numbers in China.

When I first came here, I was surprised to see that many websites had numbers in their names instead of letters. I soon found that this is actually convenient, as Chinese characters (汉字) cannot be used for website addresses. 3

In pinyin, the telecom company China Unicom is called Zhongguo Liantong. If the company used their pinyin name for their website address, it would be quite long. 4

In addition, the pronunciations of some numbers sound similar to other words in Chinese. This is wordplay (双关语). For example, the numbers "520" in Chinese sound similar to the pronunciation of the Chinese phrase "I love you". 5

- A. They can only use numbers or letters instead.
- B. There are also superstitions (迷信) about some numbers in China.
- C. In western countries, some people think the number 13 brings bad luck.
- D. It is interesting to see how Chinese people use numbers in different ways.
- E. So instead, they used the hotline number—10010.com. This is easier to type and remember.
- F. Many couples choose to get married on May 20th for this reason.

When people talk about the Chinese tea culture today, they won't miss an important person in the Chinese history—Lu Yu. ____ 1 ____

Lu was born in 733 A. D. in Tianmen, Hubei. ____ 2 ____ During one trip, Lu Yu saw a spring (泉). The water was very clear and clean. When Lu Yu made tea with this spring water, he found the tea tasted better than usual. ____ 3 ____

Lu Yu is best known for his book The Classic of Tea (《茶经》). In the book, he describes how to plant tea trees, to process the leaves, and to prepare tea as a drink. ____ 4 ____ According to Lu Yu, tea is cold in nature. It cures body heat, thirst, dry eyes, etc.

____ 5 ____ This is not only a healthy habit but also shows rich culture and history. In China, tea can be seen as a sign of respect to the old. People also say sorry to others by presenting tea for them. These different tea customs make up the rich and wonderful Chinese tea culture.

- A. Many Chinese families drink tea or serve tea when greeting visitors.
- B. He liked going to the countryside to gather tea leaves.
- C. Many people went to Lu Yu to learn how to make tea.
- D. He was respected for his push for the Chinese tea culture.
- E. The book also discusses where to find the best tea leaves.

What do you usually do in your spare time? Chatting online is now a national pastime (消遣) in China, especially among the post-90s and post-00s generation. ____1____ But hidden rules do exist (存在), as long as you take the time to look for them.

Get to the Point.

When sending a friend request, include your real name and any other identifying (身份辨别) information. Remember, everybody's time is valuable. Never send an "Are you there?" without any follow-up messages. ____2____

Send the Right Things.

Please send texts, not voice messages. It might be easier for you to speak than type, but what about the people on the other end? ____3____ Also, never send information by voice message—it is hard to note down. Emojis (表情符号) and GIFs can save the day when you find yourself in an embarrassing conversation, or words fail you.

____4____

You can always judge a person's mood by their text messages. If the person you're talking to says "Good night" or "I'm going to take a shower", that's probably not what they're actually going to do. ____5____ If someone waits for longer than three seconds before saying "Yes", they probably really mean "No". If you receive these emojis from friends who are older, read them literally (照字面地) (such as a smile or a wave). For the post-90s and post-00s generation, however, the meanings of the emojis might be totally different.

- A. They may be unable to listen to a 59-second message right now.
- B. It is just an excuse to stop talking to you.
- C. To some people, however, online chats can seem like a kind of polite conversation.
- D. The quicker that you get to the point, the more likely the other person is to reply.
- E. Try to Understand.

When people talk about the Chinese tea culture today, they won’t miss an important person in the Chinese history—Lu Yu. 1

Lu was born in 733 A. D. in Tianmen, Hubei. 2 During one trip, Lu Yu saw a spring (泉). The water was very clear and clean. When Lu Yu made tea with this spring water, he found the tea tasted better than usual. 3

Lu Yu is best known for his book The Classic of Tea (《茶经》). In the book, he describes how to plant tea trees, to process the leaves, and to prepare tea as a drink. 4 According to Lu Yu, tea is cold in nature. It cures body heat, thirst, dry eyes, etc.

5 This is not only a healthy habit but also shows rich culture and history. In China, tea can be seen as a sign of respect to the old. People also say sorry to others by presenting tea for them. These different tea customs make up the rich and wonderful Chinese tea culture.

- A. Many Chinese families drink tea or serve tea when greeting visitors.
- B. He liked going to the countryside to gather tea leaves.
- C. Many people went to Lu Yu to learn how to make tea.
- D. He was respected for his push for the Chinese tea culture.
- E. The book also discusses where to find the best tea leaves.
- F. Then he realized the importance of water quality when making tea.

【答案】1. D 2. B 3. F 4. E 5. A

【解析】本文主要介绍了茶圣陆羽。

1. 根据上文“When people talk about the Chinese tea culture today, they won’t miss an important person in the Chinese history—Lu Yu.”可知，这里是解释陆羽重要的原因，所以选项 D“他因推动中国茶文化而受到尊敬”符合语境。故选 D。
2. 根据下文“During one trip, Lu Yu saw a spring.”和“When Lu Yu made tea with this spring water”可知，这里是介绍了陆羽去乡下采茶的经历，所以选项 B“他喜欢去乡下采茶叶”符合语境。故选 B。
3. 根据上文“When Lu Yu made tea with this spring water, he found the tea tasted better than usual.”可知，这里应该是对用泉水煮茶的总结和感悟，所以选项 F“然后他意识到沏茶时水质的重要性”符合语境。故选 F。
4. 根据上文“In the book, he describes how to plant tea trees, to process the leaves, and to prepare tea as a drink.”可知，该处是进一步介绍了这本书的内容，所以选项 E“这本书还讨论了在哪里可以找到最好的茶叶”符合语境。故选 E。
5. 根据下文“This is not only a healthy habit but also shows rich culture and history. In China, tea can be seen as a sign of respect to the old. People also say sorry to others by presenting tea for them.”可知，该处引出了茶在中国家庭中的作用，与下文的茶的文化意义相衔接，所以选项 A“许多中国家庭在接待客人时喝茶或奉上茶”符合语境。故选 A。

What do you usually do in your spare time? Chatting online is now a national pastime (消遣) in China, especially among the post-90s and post-00s generation. ____1____ But hidden rules do exist (存在), as long as you take the time to look for them.

Get to the Point.

When sending a friend request, include your real name and any other identifying (身份辨别) information. Remember, everybody’s time is valuable. Never send an “Are you there?” without any follow-up messages. ____2____

Send the Right Things.

Please send texts, not voice messages. It might be easier for you to speak than type, but what about the people on the other end? 3 Also, never send information by voice message—it is hard to note down. Emojis (表情符号) and GIFs can save the day when you find yourself in an embarrassing conversation, or words fail you.

4

You can always judge a person's mood by their text messages. If the person you're talking to says "Good night" or "I'm going to take a shower", that's probably not what they're actually going to do. 5 If someone waits for longer than three seconds before saying "Yes", they probably really mean "No". If you receive these emojis from friends who are older, read them literally (照字面地) (such as a smile or a wave). For the post-90s and post-00s generation, however, the meanings of the emojis might be totally different.

- A. They may be unable to listen to a 59-second message right now.
- B. It is just an excuse to stop talking to you.
- C. To some people, however, online chats can seem like a kind of polite conversation.
- D. The quicker that you get to the point, the more likely the other person is to reply.
- E. Try to Understand.

【答案】1. C 2. D 3. A 4. E 5. B

【解析】本文介绍在网上聊天的注意事项。

1. 根据上文“Chatting online is now a national pastime (消遣) in China, especially among the post-90s and post-00s generation.”及下文“But hidden rules do exist (存在), as long as you take the time to look for them.”并结合选项可知，此处句意发生了转折，指网上聊天现在是一种全民消遣，尤其是在 90 后和 00 后，但对一些人来说，这是一种礼貌的交谈，所以要知道潜在的规则，选项 C“然而，对一些人来说，在线聊天似乎是一种礼貌的交谈。”符合语境。故选 C。

2. 根据标题“Get to the Point.”可知，此处与说重点有关，选项 D“你越快切中要点，对方就越有可能回复。”符合语境。故选 D。

3. 根据上文“Please send texts, not voice messages”可知，此处与不要发语音消息有关，选项 A“他们现在可能无法听一条 59 秒的信息。”符合语境。故选 A。

4. 根据下文“You can always judge a person's mood by their text messages.”可知，此处与明白对方的情绪有关，选项 E“试着了解”符合语境。故选 E。

5. 根据上文“...that's probably not what they're actually going to do.”并结合选项可知，此处指这只是结束交谈的一个接口，而不是真的要去做，选项 B“这只是停止和你说话的借口。”符合语境。故选 B。
