Have you ever thought about the possibility that your simple T-shirt could cool you down by up to 5 °C on hot summer days? Thanks to a recent invention, it will probably come true. The amazing invention helps people feel comfortable and fresh in the outdoors on hot days.

Its inventors, engineers Ma Yaoguang and Tao Guangming in China, had a completely fantastic way. They made a special textile (纺织品). It can take in body heat and send out its energy into space. This textile cools both the objects and the area around them through radioactive cooling (辐射冷却). This means that even when it looks like you are wearing a common shirt, you are in fact wearing something that works like a mirror.

Research at Stanford University had already succeeded in cooling the wearers by 3 °C, but this invention was not good enough. So researchers still need to test the new invention to decide how well it works while the wearers are standing or walking, and not directly facing the sky, like in their research

Inventors Ma and Tao are now looking for textile factories and clothing brands (品牌) that are interested in using their textile. They predict that the new material will increase clothing costs by just 10%. “We can make it with more production which means everybody can get a T-shirt and the cost is almost the same as their old ones.” Tao said.

So if you are a sportsman or simply someone that has to deal with the really high temperature, be patient because your days of feeling hot may be coming to an end!

- A. To make the T-shirts look nicer. B. To keep the wearer warm in cold weather.
C. To cool the wearer by up to 5°C on hot days. D. To make more people afford T-shirts.

()2. Why do researchers need to test the new invention further?

- A. Because they want to check if it is safe for the environment.
B. Because they wonder if it works while people move or stand.
C. Because the material is too expensive to produce.
D. Because it can not be produced at a low price.

()3. What can be predicted from the last two paragraphs?

- A. The new T-shirts will be welcomed.
B. The new T-shirts will be at a high price.

____ 1 ____ ICON company in the US is building the world's largest community of 3D-printed houses this year. Each 3D-printed house is about 139 to 195 square meters in size and has three to four bedrooms. These 3D-printed houses are faster to build and lower in price.

____ 2 ____ People who have heart illness or accidents may only have a few minutes to live unless they get help. These days some people in the US made an app called Pulse Point. It invites ordinary (普通的) people trained in CPR (心肺复苏术) to use it. The app knows the users' information and offers help anytime anywhere.

____ 3 ____ At the Spring Festival Gala of this year, we saw robots dancing on stage (舞台). The robots did both traditional and modern dances. The best part was when a human dancer and a robot danced together. They moved at the same time, copying each other's moves and making the performance look perfect.

____ 4 ____ Li Xinze is a 17-year-old boy from Hefei. He and his friend invented a waste cleaning robot to deal with smelly rubbish in pools which is hard for workers to clean up. DeepSeek 的问世使人工智能 AI (Artificial Intelligence) 成为热门话题，科技的快速发展给人们的生活带来了巨大变化，同时也引发了人们对于人工智能取代人类的担忧。假如你是李华，请写一篇名为 “AI in Our Life” 的作文，谈谈你对人工智能的看法。内容包括：

1. AI 的优点：使生活更加方便、舒适；代替人类完成危险、繁重的工作……
2. AI 的缺点：人们过于依赖人工智能，失去独立思考能力；增加失业风险……
3. 你的看法：……

参考词汇： advantage 优点; disadvantage 缺点; risk 风险

AI in Our Life

The invention of DeepSeek has made AI a hot topic among people in our society. _____

【答案】

Task 1

BACFD

Task 2

lower; anywhere; moves; control; lights

Task 3AI in Our Life

The invention of DeepSeek has made AI a hot topic among people in our society. It has become an important part of our life.

In some ways, AI is good for us. It makes our life more convenient and comfortable. For example, we can gain knowledge on every subject from it in a few seconds. What's more, AI can help us to do some dangerous and hard jobs. With the development of it, people break the limit of time and space in getting information. However, it also brings us some problems. Students can't think by themselves with the help of AI and they can't study carefully in class. Moreover, AI will take the place of humans in some jobs, increasing the risk of unemployment.

In my opinion, every coin has two sides. We should use AI wisely and view it as a helper to improve our life.
