The Internet has brought great changes to our life. It has both good and bad effects on teenagers. On the positive side, it helps us develop our interests. For example, I love drawing, and I often watch drawing lessons on the Internet. By following these lessons, I've improved a lot and even started my own art blog. Also, the Internet allows us to stay in touch with friends. My best friend moved to another city last year, but we still chat every day on WeChat, sharing funny stories and photos of our daily lives. Moreover, it's a great tool for learning. During the winter holiday, I used online platforms to study English grammar. The videos and exercises there made learning much easier.

However, there are negative effects too. Many teenagers become less active in real life because of the Internet. They prefer playing mobile games at home instead of playing basketball or running outside. As a result, they often feel tired and weak. Another problem is that some teenagers spend too much time on social media. My neighbor always posts short videos and checks comments every few minutes. He sometimes stays up late doing this, and then he can't focus in class the next day. So, while the Internet is useful, we should use it wisely.

Dear Mr. Li and Mrs. Li,

How are you? I hope you are well. I'm writing to thank you for taking such good care of me during my stay in Beijing. Now that I'm back in London, I keep thinking about all the great times we had together.

It was so kind of you to welcome me into your home. I am grateful that you showed me so much of Beijing—like the day we visited the Great Wall. I still remember how you told me stories about its history while we walked. It has been a fantastic experience to learn about Chinese culture, too, especially when we made dumplings together. That's the thing I enjoyed most—sharing meals and laughing with you all.

Since I returned to London, I have told my friends all about my trip. They were amazed by the photos of the Forbidden City and wanted to know more about Chinese traditions. The thing I miss most is your home-cooked noodles—they were delicious!

I do hope that one day you can visit London. I would love to show you around my city, just like you did for me. Keep in touch!

Best wishes to you all,

Yours,

Frank

范文一

During the Warring States Period, there was a man named Tian Ji in the state of Qi. He loved horse racing and often competed with the king. But Tian Ji's horses were almost as fast as the king's, so he always lost and felt upset.

One day, Tian Ji’s friend Sun Bin watched a race and had a clever idea. He said to Tian Ji, “Use your slowest horse to race the king’s fastest. Then use your fastest to race his medium one, and your medium to race his slowest.”

The next race began. Tian Ji lost the first round, but he won the second and third rounds. Finally, he beat the king! The king was very surprised. Tian Ji smiled and told the king about Sun Bin’s smart plan. This story tells us that a good strategy can help us win.

During the Three Kingdoms period, Zhuge Liang was in Xicheng with only a few weak soldiers. His main army was far away and couldn’t return soon. One day, soldiers who look for news came and said Sima Yi’s big army (tens of thousands of soldiers) was coming. Everyone in the city was afraid; some even prepared to run.

Zhuge Liang stayed calm. He told soldiers to open gates and let villagers sweep roads quietly. Then he went to the city wall with his guqin, sat down, and played softly while drinking tea. When Sima Yi arrived, he was surprised. He thought, “Zhuge Liang is careful—there must be traps!” He shook his head at his men.

Finally, Sima Yi ordered, “Go back!” His army left. Zhuge Liang’s soldiers cheered. Zhuge Liang smiled, took a drink of tea, and felt relaxed—his plan saved Xicheng.

Dear Andy,

With the improvement of our living standard, more and more people like to raise dogs as their pets in the living areas or settlements. Recently, according to this, our class have held a discussion on whether people should raise these dogs. Different opinions are as follows:

Those who are for it think that people should have the right to raise dogs as their pets. First, dogs can not only help their masters watch out houses ,but also bring them happiness and pleasure. Second, by keeping dogs, the only child and the old will not feel lonely. Third, we can learn to care for the lives.

However, quite a large number of the people think dogs should not be raised as pets in the living areas. For one reason, they make so much noise, especially at night, which have a bad effect on people’s rest.

Second, they are dirty and they often make the environment dirty. At last, sometimes, some dog may even bite people. People are often feeling frightened whenever they meet them.

In my opinion, I am strongly against raising dogs in the public places such as living areas and settlements. For the sake of people's safety and living environment , raising dogs as pets should be forbidden

A survey on weekly use of smartphones

Recently, we did a survey on weekly use of smartphones among 600 eighth graders in our school. Here are the results.

When it comes to the weekly usage duration, 21% of students use smartphones for less than 2 hours, 35% for 2-5 hours, and 44% for more than 5 hours. As for the purposes, 42% use them to search for information and finish homework, while 58% use them to play games and chat.

In my opinion, using smartphones has both advantages and disadvantages. They make communication easy and help us access information quickly. However, overuse harms our eyes, and game addiction is bad for study. Therefore, we should limit the time that we spend on smartphones.

All in all, I think students should learn to use smartphones wisely.

Hello everyone. I am Li Hua. Nowadays, electronic devices like smartphones, tablets, and laptops are popular among students. They bring us not only convenience but also trouble.

Firstly, electronic devices have many advantages. One of the most obvious benefits is that we can quickly and conveniently search for information. Besides, electronic devices provide us with various forms of entertainment, such as games, music, and videos.

However, there are also some disadvantages to using electronic devices. One major concern is that prolonged use of these devices can harm our eyesight. Additionally, excessive use of electronic devices can negatively affect our social interactions, as we may become less engaged in face-to-face communication and more reliant on virtual connections.

To ensure the proper use of electronic devices, we need to establish some guidelines. Firstly, we should limit our screen time and take regular breaks to rest our eyes. Secondly, we should prioritize real-life interactions over virtual ones, by engaging in activities such as outdoor sports or group discussions.

In conclusion, electronic devices have both advantages and disadvantages. We should use them responsibly and in moderation.

That’s all. Thank you for listening.

Problems and Advice on AI

Nowadays, AI makes life and learning more convenient. However, it also brings problems to teenagers.

One major problem is that some teenagers rely too much on AI when doing homework. Instead of thinking independently, they just copy answers from AI. Another issue is that excessive use of AI may reduce teenagers' ability to communicate face-to-face, as they prefer to get information or solve problems through AI rather than interacting with others.

To address these problems, here are some suggestions. First, when encountering difficult problems, teenagers should think independently first and regard AI as a learning aid. Second, they should set a reasonable time limit for using AI every day and spend more time engaging in real-world activities and communicating with people around them.

Let's use AI reasonably so that technology can serve human beings for a better life.

【答案】范文：

Dear Miss Yang,

My name is Li Hua. I am excited to know that our school will hold the English Week with the theme of “Tell Chinese stories in English”. I really want to help you organize the activities.

I have several qualities that make me suitable for this role. Firstly, I have a profound understanding of both Chinese and foreign cultures, so that I can confidently explain Chinese stories in English. Moreover, as a good organizer, I have successfully planned and organized several school events in the past.

For the activities, my plans are as follows. Firstly, we can hold an English speech contest with the theme of sharing Chinese stories. Secondly, it's a good idea to hold an exhibition about traditional Chinese artifacts with English descriptions. It will help students learn more about traditional culture as well as improve English reading skills. Additionally, why not organize students to perform short English dramas based on Chinese fairy tales or historical events? This will make the English Week even more creative and attractive!

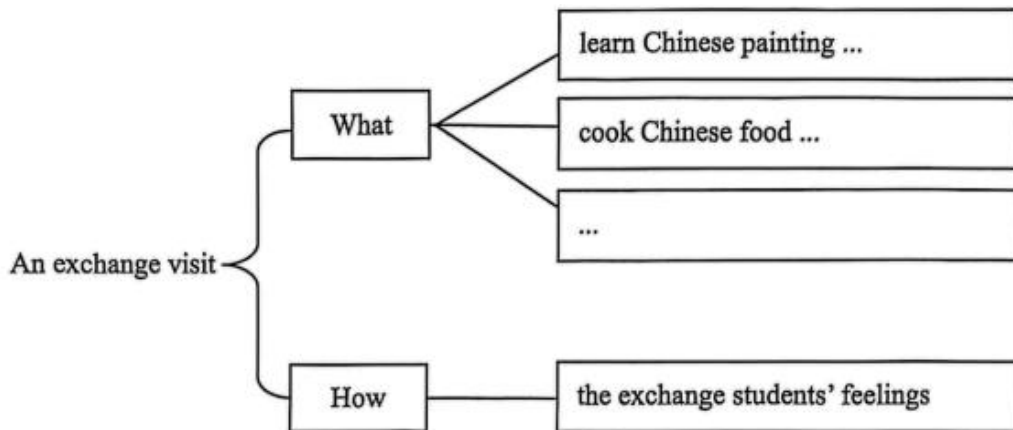

In my opinion, these activities provide a platform for us to show our love for Chinese culture. By taking part in this event, we can not only improve our language abilities, but also play a part in making the world better understand China.

I expect that you can give me the chance and I'm looking forward to your reply.

Yours faithfully,

Li Hua

【答案】例文

An exchange visit

Last month, our school hosted a group of exchange students for a two-week exchange activity. As a volunteer, I'd like to report the activity to you.

During the exchange visit, we arranged a variety of activities for the exchange students. They learned Chinese painting. Under the guidance of our art teachers, they carefully painted traditional Chinese landscapes and flowers, experiencing the charm of Chinese painting art. They also cooked Chinese food. They learned to make dumplings, spring rolls and so on. Everyone was very interested and actively participated in the cooking process. In addition, we also organized a visit to local museums and historical sites, which helped them have a better understanding of China's long history and rich culture. As for how the exchange students felt, they were extremely excited and satisfied. They said that these activities made them fall in love with Chinese culture deeply. They were impressed by the long history and unique charm of China. They also expressed their gratitude to our school and all the volunteers for providing such a wonderful opportunity for them to experience Chinese culture.

In a word, this exchange activity was a great success. It not only promoted cultural exchanges between us and the exchange students, but also deepened our friendship. Thank you!
